 Criminal damage 75, 194, 878, 917
 Custodial sentence and activated suspended sentence justified for serious environmental health offences 173
 Custodial sentence and extended sentence - relevant considerations 863
 Custodial sentence imposed on female offender of previous good character was wrong in principle and alternative non-custodial sentence would be more appropriate 194
 Custodial sentences imposed were entirely appropriate where offence had involved sustained bad driving, which had endangered other road users as well as defendant, and where there were numerous aggravating factors set against the defendant's mitigation 899
 Custody neither inevitable nor necessary for low value theft in breach of trust 539
 Custody threshold 198, 983
 Dangerous dogs 354
 Dangerous driving: defendant sole carer of children 750
 Death penalty 833
 Deception 75, 273, 594, 858
 Defendant's sentence not disparate from younger co-defendant's sentence because different considerations applied to young offenders; personal mitigation likely to have greater effect on sentencing young offenders; therefore; sentence not manifestly excessive 354
 Despite guilty plea and personal mitigation, sentence of four years for arson was not manifestly excessive 15
 Despite Newton hearing, defendant not given credit for guilty plea; sentence deemed to be manifestly excessive 474
 Discount for pleading guilty 98, 982
 Dishonesty 233
 Disparity: adult and juvenile offenders 842-3
 Drink-driving 878
 Driving offence - length of custodial sentence not excessive in view of fact that defendant had driven recklessly and had demonstrated an irresponsible attitude 435
 Driving offences 15, 35, 56, 134, 173, 194, 212, 233, 373, 435, 474, 493, 513, 534, 554, 594, 614, 632, 712, 730, 780, 800, 817, 836, 858, 917, 938, 976, 1004

 Manslaughter 35, 134, 254, 393, 493, 594, 632, 712, 958, 976
 Matching the sentence to the crime 941

Mitigating factor of defendant's pregnancy, although unknown to sentencing judge, should be taken into account when considering reduction of sentence	194	Sentence of imprisonment cannot be partly consecutive or start at an uncertain future date except on the expiry of another sentence	783
Mobile measures	87	Sentence of six years' imprisonment was manifestly excessive where offences were more akin to a serious assault than rape and where defendant was 75 years of age	594
Mobile phones - distinction between thieves and robbers	822	Sentences for firearms offence and robbery should run concurrently	858
Murder	653	Sentencing: 16-month custodial sentence for sexual offences committed against children was manifestly excessive in light of young offender's intention to plead guilty at earliest stage possible	153
New community sentence	267	Sentencing: although custodial sentence justified where defendant knowingly kept weapons and ammunition, his good character and lack of intent to use weapons for criminal purposes was taken into account	212
New sentencing guidelines	446	Sentencing: assault offences committed by prison officers constituted a breach of trust and undermined the operation of the prison system	254
New sentencing guidelines for possession, etc of indecent photographs of children	922-3	Sentencing: cases with offences on the border of custodial sentencing should consider the defendant's intent and damage to the victim	233
New sentencing guidelines for possession of offensive weapons	842	Sentencing: child pornography cases	667
No release: "life means life"	450	Sentencing: communicating false information	379
Non-custodial penalty for dwelling house burglary not perverse	802	Sentencing: court had no power to order that sentence should commence at a time earlier than was imposed	273
Obtaining property by deception	153, 750	Sentencing: cultivating Class B drugs	379
Offence of arson, combined with various driving offences, warranted a substantial custodial sentence	938	Sentencing: custodial sentence not manifestly excessive when aggravating and mitigating features taken into account	554
Offences of violence	750	Sentencing: defendant disqualified from having a dog for 10 years was entitled to apply for termination of order after period of one year in accordance with the provisions of the Dangerous Dogs Act	513
One man's stand	181	Sentencing: despite mitigating factors, in case of extreme mindless violence severe custodial sentences were totally justified	878
Payback - four years on	992-4	Sentencing for arson: court had power to impose a detention and training order on a defendant aged 15 at the time of conviction, if it considered him to be a persistent offender	114
Possession of indecent photographs	817	Sentencing for dangerous driving whilst disqualified; consecutive sentences not wrong in principle due to aggravating features	114
Possession of offensive weapon	173	Sentencing for failing to answer bail	962
Power of the Crown Court on appeal against sentence	558	Sentencing for racially aggravated abusive behaviour	173
Power to magistrates	312	Sentencing for road traffic offences; aggravating features of offence, lack of insight into offending and risk presented to other drivers all justified custodial sentence, despite defendant's guilty plea	153
Power to set tariffs	935	Sentencing; in burglary case where defendant entered his plea before venue, and provided evidence by virtue of his own admission, a sentence of five years' imprisonment was excessive	672
Practical Point: is there power to remit an offender to another magistrates' court for resentencing following breach of a community sentence?	556, 635-6, 732	Sentencing in case of grievous bodily harm, six-year prison sentence manifestly excessive where element of situation had not been of defendant's own making	354
Practical Point: previous convictions for similar offences	576	Sentencing: in case of handling stolen goods where goods represented proceeds of serious burglary	493
Pre-sentence report - prejudicial information	656

Rethink of life sentences	551
Rioting	764, 817, 878
Robbery	153, 354, 435, 493, 672
Sentence for robbery could be reduced in light of defendant's good character and prompt admission	858
Sentence of eight years' imprisonment imposed for drugs possession offence was manifestly excessive since defendant was a courier and, as such, had small part as regards the organization of the operation	373
Sentence of four years' detention was deemed manifestly excessive in light of defendant's prison service report stating good progress	836
Sentence of four years' imprisonment was manifestly excessive in light of all the circumstances of the case	693

- Sentencing; in case of incest a custodial sentence was justified 764
- Sentencing in cases of causing death by dangerous driving:
a consultation 560-8
- Sentencing; in drug possession case a custodial sentence was justified, but a sentence of 12 months' imprisonment was excessive in view of the exceptional mitigating factors which existed 780
- Sentencing; in drug possession case, where judge had taken too high a starting point and where defendant had not been given sufficient credit for his guilty plea, sentence of 14 years' imprisonment was manifestly excessive 653
- Sentencing; in manslaughter case involving cruelty to child, there was danger that defendant would be sentenced for same conduct twice 493
- Sentencing; in public nuisance offence case, a significant custodial sentence was entirely justified and yet numerous mitigating factors should have been taken into account, including the fact that the defendant had voluntarily stopped offending 917
- Sentencing in rape case, 12 years' imprisonment was manifestly excessive as defendant's guilty plea should have been taken into account 134
- Sentencing; in rape case judge did not err in extending the licence period where he had referred to both requirements for the passing of an extended sentence, namely the prevention and commission of further offences and the securing of the rehabilitation of the defendant 730
- Sentencing in rape case; level of criminality, compounded by defendant's attempt to mislead medical examiners, meant that sentence of 13 years' imprisonment was not manifestly excessive 314
- Sentencing; in sex offence case recognition should be given to guilty plea which spared victims from having to give evidence 976
- Sentencing; length of sentence should be reduced in light of mitigation 976
- Sentencing of offences involving child pornography:
a consultation 46-54
- Sentencing; offence of child abduction was sufficiently serious to justify custodial sentence and a total sentence of two years and six months' imprisonment was not manifestly excessive under the circumstances 730
- Sentencing panel report 516
- Sentencing rape: part 1 517
- Sentencing rape: part 2 537
- Sentencing; sentences equivalent to the statutory maximum term of imprisonment should be reserved for the worse kinds of affray only 958
- Sentencing; serious and prolonged sexual attack resulting in grievous bodily harm to the victim justified sentence of 12 years' imprisonment 632
- Sentencing; serious offence of assault occasioning actual bodily harm justified custodial sentence of four years 614
- Sentencing the burglar 724-6, 828
- Sentencing the burglar (correspondence) 876-7
- Sentencing the environmental offender 924-6
- Sentencing; three years' imprisonment for multiple sexual offences was manifestly excessive because aggravating and mitigating features had not been fully taken into account 134
- Sentencing; where aggravating features of case included defendant being found in possession of proceeds of a street robbery and that offence having been committed whilst on bail, sentence of nine months' imprisonment was not manifestly excessive 712
- Sentencing - where defendant had committed offences with children which involved breaches of trust 453
- Sentencing; where defendant had deliberately perverted the course of justice, aggravated by the fact that an innocent person had been charged as a result, a sentence of nine months' imprisonment was not manifestly excessive 712
- Sentencing; where judge had been in unique position to assess relative culpability of defendants and sentence accordingly, the Court of Appeal would accord with that assessment 878
- Sentencing; where judge had not fully considered the appropriate material to pass an extended sentence and where defendant had previously made good progress on a sex offenders programme in prison, a six-year licence period would be quashed and an extended period of four years would be substituted 917
- Sentencing; where young defendant intent on continuing record for violent behaviour, public were entitled to be protected and custodial sentence of seven years was not manifestly excessive 513

- When sentencing, judge should consider date when offences committed where time had passed between commission of offences and date of conviction and sentence 393
- When time spent in custody on remand counts towards a custodial sentence 618
- Where defendants were aged 16 and 12, custodial sentence, imposed as a deterrent, was manifestly excessive 35

- Where different cases are heard some time apart due to accidents of timing, the overall sentence should not be greater than if they had been heard together 735
- Wildlife offences 976
- Worth a thought 831-2
